Empathy Through Stories: The Heart Behind The Restricted Adventures of Raja

The Restricted Adventures of Raja is part of the RedRover Readers program and was written with the goal of teaching children empathy and kindness through understanding the emotions of cats and dogs. RedRover's former President and CEO, Nicole Forsyth created this story, originally as an online app series, to make the world a better place.

The RedRover Readers program is a unique, community-based literacy program designed to give children the opportunity to practice the skills needed to develop empathy: recognizing emotional states, sharing emotional states, and regulating emotions to make better decisions and build stronger relationships. RedRover offers professional development workshops for educators to learn how to implement the program. Scholarships are available. Learn more at RedRover.org/Readers.

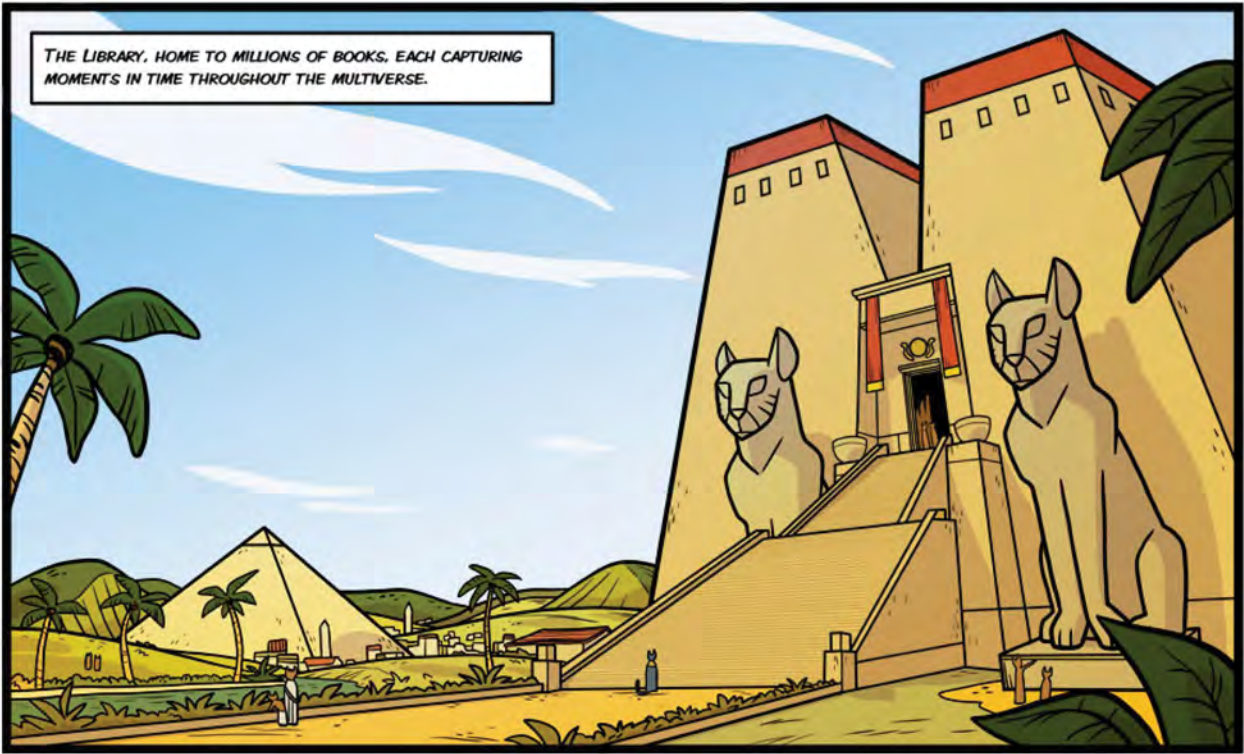

Established in 1987, RedRover is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit based in Sacramento, California, that serves the United States and Canada. RedRover focuses on bringing animals out of crisis and strengthening the human-animal bond through emergency sheltering, disaster relief services, financial assistance, and humane education.
